As my 5-year-old daughter enters the first grade this fall, I feel it is time to get involved in ensuring we have the best education options available for her and all children in Southwest Saskatchewan. Between my daughter and two step-children, I have a very personal stake with kids in elementary, middle, and high school. The hard-working school division staff needs a board ready to support them during these unprecedented challenging times of budget cuts and COVID-19. A parent with children involved at all levels can offer an important perspective.

While previously employed as a radio journalist I learned a lot covering school boards in Ontario, British Columbia, and Swift Current. I also recently served as Vice-President and Fundraising Chair for Southwest Crisis Services. My other volunteer experience includes the Swift Current Kiwanis Club, the committee for the Broncos Alumni Golf Tournament, and two seasons as a minor soccer coach.
